

Caring about Outdoor Events

The Event Services Association (TESA) , established in 1991, is a trade body for the outdoor event industry in the UK which supports and endorses excellence across the industry.

Supporting High Standards

As a leading supporter of the Events Industry Forum, TESA endorses and supports the Purple Guide as the industry standard for outdoor events.

When you join us you will be asked to sign a pledge to support and uphold the standard guidance set out in the Purple Guide and we will supply you with a certificate you can display as evidence of this.

Subscription to Purple Guide

As a member of TESA you will receive a subscription to The Purple Guide as part of your membership and, once the guide becomes part of the Primary Authority Scheme you will be protected from challenge on any legal issues covered by the guide that you follow.

Only members of EIF organisations are covered for this.

Primary Authority

Adoption of the Purple Guide into the Primary Authority Scheme will also mean that if you need clarification on any issues we will be able to take them up for you and seek Assured Advice, which local authorities should accept and can only challenge through the Primary Authority thus creating a more consistent approach to outdoor events across the UK.

Access to Advice

TESA will also support you in seeking advice on any issues that you might have in relation to the Purple Guide. Where appropriate we can seek advice from the working groups that wrote the guidance.

Keeping You Informed

As a member we will also keep you up-to-date with legislation, guidance and things happening around our industry, on a weekly and, sometimes, daily basis through ebulletins.

Supporting Your Business

Supplier members are also listed on the TESA website with a logo as well as contact details and up to 150 words of description.

We will also help you to share news about your business, new products etc. through our monthly update bulletins to event organisers.

Networking Opportunities

Each year our members are invited to join us at special networking meetings, with key industry speakers, and at which we will update you on activities, legislation etc.

Where possible these meetings will be face-to-face in central locations, thus providing an opportunity for members to meet and network. Each member will receive a free ticket to attend.
